

Communist Party, Turkey (KP)'s upswing at the 1st November election resulted with a 20 percent growth in members

KP evolved the result of fivefold increase in its votes at the last elections, into an organization campaign.

This campaign became the only hope and the bright development in Turkey for a new year stepping in darkly with intensified oppression of AKP, the intentions for an oppressive Sunnite regime, heavy battle in the Kurdish villages and the bombs of the IS triggerman. In three months time, workers, dwellers of the labour districts in the cities and the youth replied strongly to KP's appeal. Through these 3 months KP has grown 20 percent. More than half of the newcomers were waged labourers. One third of the total participation were 16 to 25 years generation of the youth and almost half were women.

There were ceremonies in the big city centres, where the incomers were presented with Party badges.

"The miners sliced the cake with the note "to safe and sound new years" after they shared prayers for their colleagues who lost their lives. Minister of Energy and Natural Sources Berat Albayrak and Minister of Employment and Social Security Süleyman Soylu celebrated the new year at 425 metres deep underground with the miners. 'We were in Saudi Arabia yesterday. It was an important visit for Turkey. In spite of the weather conditions, we've come to Zonguldak. We had promised. We kept our promise even there was bad weather' said Albayrak."

Quoted from the News on January 1st 2016

JANUARY 2016

THE REPLY OF THE COMMUNISTS:

'1712 PEOPLE DIED IN THIS WAR LAST YEAR'

Turkey has greeted the new year with missiles into houses, cannon rumbles, bodies on the streets and child deaths. From now on there is a declared war. Everybody speaks about "peace", yet while words say peace hands act for war. For years he exploited the feelings saying "no tears for mothers", yet now the Dictator himself makes millions of mothers suffer.

Meanwhile an undeclared war has been continuing non stop in this country.

Kadri Balta was killed on 24th December at Maslak. He was working at a construction job, he crushed on the ground when the stage lines broke. He was killed in İstanbul, buried in his home town, Nusaybin. He was just 19. Like hundred thousands similar to him he was trying to survive, working at construction jobs, far away from home. The same construction areas where some other workers' masses going after "big brothers from rightist seedbeds" broke into to attack Kurdish speaking workers...

Murat Kıratlı was killed on 29th December at Sivas. He was working at a irrigation channel construction. He was one of the three casualties after the landslide.

Kıratlı, who was killed alongside Muhterem from Osmaniye and Kalender Ballı, was 41 years old, from Akkuş, Ordu.

So, should we be pleased since we have Minister of Employment having new years party 425 metres underground with workers? Should we feel happy thinking, "we have Minister of Energy keeping his promise in spite of the bad weather and meeting miners"? Because they posed the press?

1712 workers lost their lives in the year 2015 so far. This war won't end smoothly. Because this is not a war between two fraternal nations but between the bosses and the workers... The labour and capital... The capital always wins and the war goes on and on. The deaths continue to happen. Injustices proceed. In order to stop this war, labour should win.

The workers, labourers, intellectuals serving labour not money...

Choose your side correctly.

And your war as well...

✉ int@kp.org.tr

🌐 www.kp.org.tr

📘 CommunistPartyTurkey

🐦 CP_Turkey

COMMUNIST PARTY, TURKEY